FEES

The only fees collected by the agency are for our Aircraft Pilot Passenger Protection Act (APPPA). The Act protects the surrounding area of Oklahoma airports to ensure there are no structures built that would interfere with the flight path. The agency charges $200 per application to evaluate the area around the airport where someone is requesting to construct a structure.

It would be tough to compare with surrounding states as they don't have a law like APPPA. Minnesota, Indiana, Michigan, and Florida are the only states known to us that have similar laws because those are the states we modeled ours after.
