Q-What is GME funding?

A- “Graduate Medical Education” funding through Medicare and Medicaid that assists programs with residency training. These two agencies pay approximately $13 billion a year to hospital based residency programs nationwide.

PMTTC

GME Funding Disparity

For family medicine residents, the majority of training takes place in an outpatient clinic, and therefore can't be counted for Medicare GME payments.

PMTTC

Internship/Residency Cost-Sharing Program

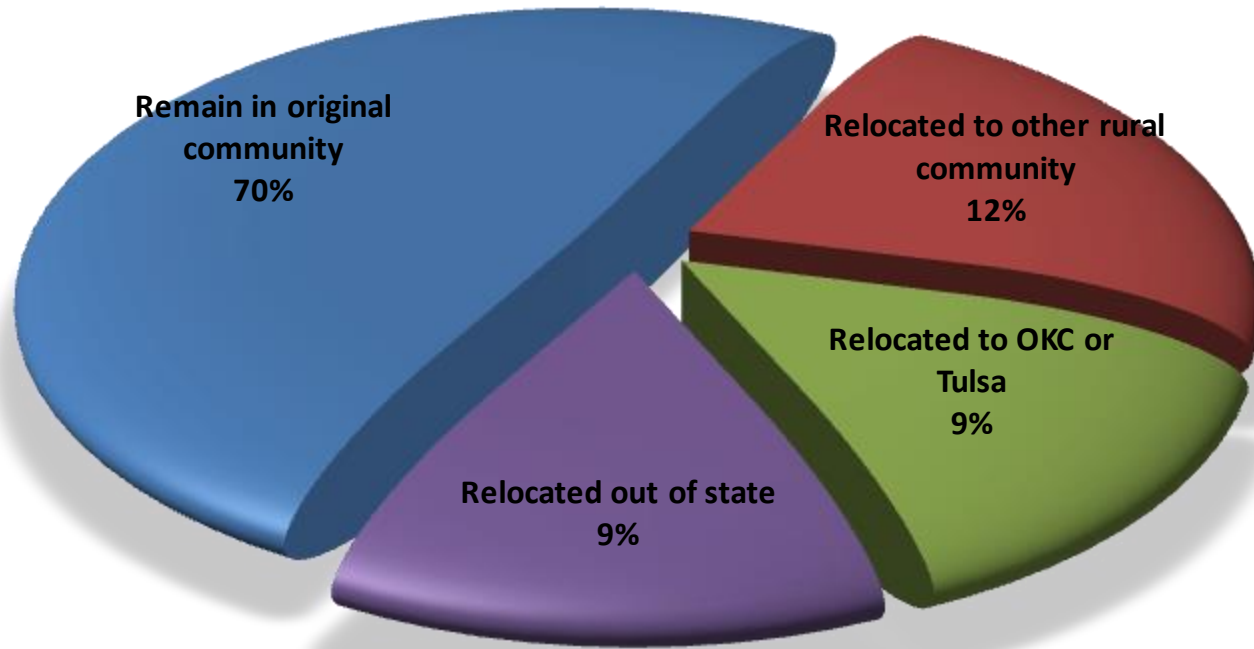

- PMTC provides partial salaries for interns and family practice residents while participating in a qualified training program in Oklahoma:
 - OU College of Medicine – Oklahoma City
 - OU College of Medicine – Tulsa
 - OSU College of Osteopathic Medicine – Tulsa
- Ensures the availability of primary care residency training positions for Oklahoma's medical school graduates.
- Increases the total number of family practice physicians to help meet the medical needs throughout the state.
- We do not import many physicians to Oklahoma. We must train and retain our own.

Economic Impact*

On average, each primary care physician in rural Oklahoma will generate (both direct and secondary) an estimated 23 full-time jobs and these jobs will generate about $1.5 million of economic impact annually.

Economic impact calculations were developed by the National Center for Rural Health Works, in a study entitled “Economic Impact of Rural Health Care.” For additional information, contact the National Center for Rural Health Works: www.ruralhealthworks.org or call 405-744-6083.*

PMTC Return on Investment

Each year approximately 25 physicians establish their medical practices in rural Oklahoma due to scholarship/financial incentives the PMTC has provided. The annual cost to the State of Oklahoma is less than $1 million.

In return many rural communities of our state have available health care and the annual economic impact is approximately $37.5 million.

The average obligation for each physician is 3-years. This means that each year there are 75 PMTC placed physicians fulfilling their obligation. This equates to $112,500,000.00 of economic impact each year.

PMTC REQUESTS

- That the Legislature does not impose further cuts to the PMTC budget.
- That the Legislature does not raid the PMTC Revolving Fund.
